Instructions

Purpose: The Program Change Request (PCR) form is to be used by a student who is in a graduate degree or program/track at Boise State University and who would like to be dropped from that program/track and be admitted into a different degree or program/track within the same field of study, or to add an additional emphasis.

Procedure: The student is responsible for completing and signing the PCR, and forwarding to the correct Program Coordinator for review and signature. If the PRC is approved, the Program Coordinator signs and forwards to the Graduate College. Once the PCR form is approved by the Graduate College, the student is notified by email that the program change has been granted. Students should check their new degree requirements using their Academic Advisement Report (AAR).
