

Counselor Education Department Evaluation Report: 2022-2023

Overview: Program Evaluation

Stakeholders, including current students, faculty, site supervisors, program graduates, and community employers, are involved in the evaluation process. This section outlines the data that will be collected (Section 4. A.1), a procedure for how and when data will be collected (Section 4.A.2), (3) a method for how data will be reviewed or analyzed (Section 4.A.3) and an explanation for how data will be used for curriculum and program evaluation (Section 4.A.4).

The process of evaluation consists of:

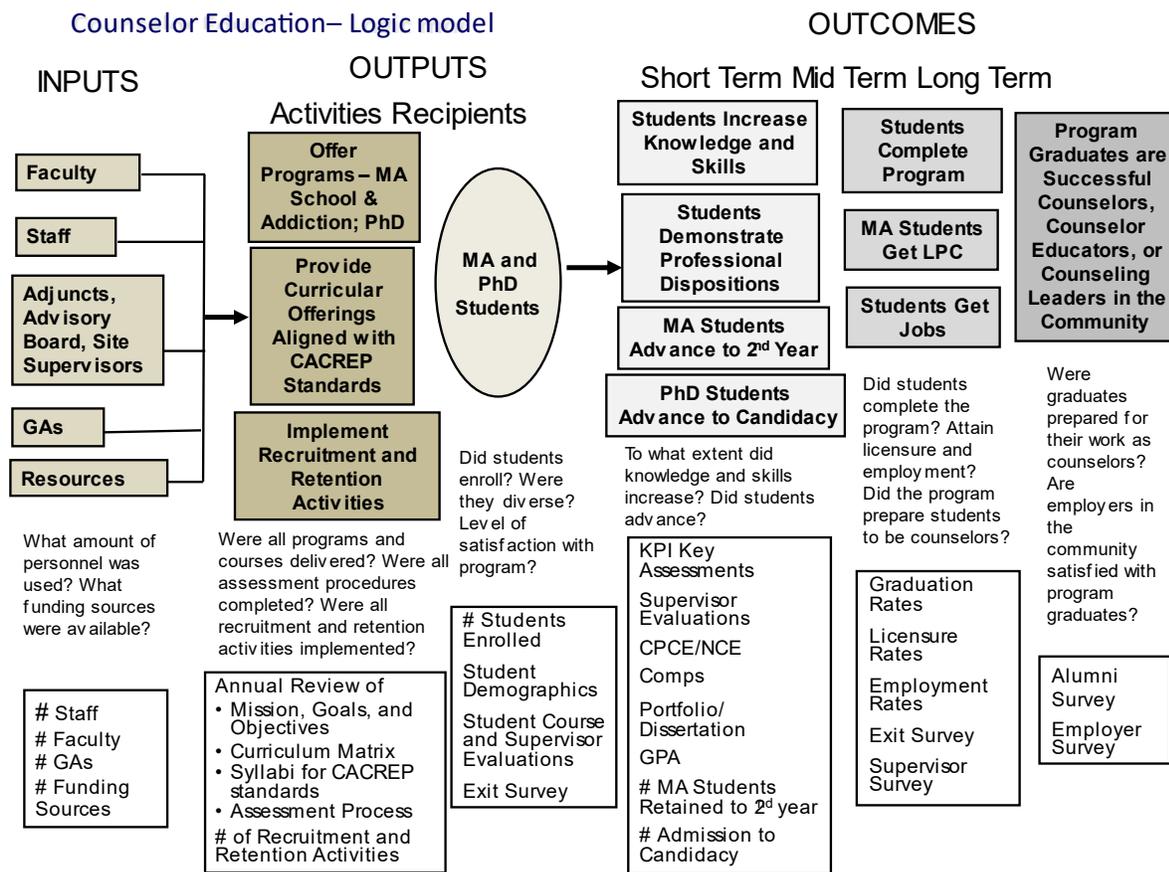

1. University reports on current students' academic progress.
2. Faculty review of professional, personal, and academic dispositions and development (PPADD) and evaluations of student achievement as related to the key performance indicators (KPI) of the program and specialty areas.
3. Departmental surveys of current students, program graduates, site supervisors, and employers. Masters' students in their 3rd year and 1-, 3-, and 5-year program graduates are asked to provide feedback regarding their experiences in the counseling program through an exit survey and program graduates survey. Respondents are asked to rate their level of preparedness on professional identity standards, program objectives, and specialty area program objectives. The exit survey and program graduates survey also contain questions regarding program satisfaction. Site supervisors of 3rd year students and employers of 1-, 3-, and 5-year program graduates are asked to provide feedback regarding the preparedness of their supervisee/employee on professional identity standards, program objectives, and specialty area program objectives. Surveys include quantitative and qualitative measures.
4. Compilation and analysis of data from the multiple evaluation methods.
5. Annual Faculty Work Meetings to review findings, assess current status of all aspects of the programs and suggest changes/modifications in the curriculum, coursework, departmental functioning, faculty activities, student selection and retention activities, student monitoring and other aspects of existing programs.
6. Generation of Annual Evaluation Report.
7. Sharing findings and suggested changes with students, administration, site supervisors, advisory board members, program graduates and others interested in the Counseling Masters' and Doctoral Program at Boise State.

The Program Evaluation Process is overseen by the Chair and the CACREP Coordinator (or Co-Coordinators). All department faculty are participants in the evaluation process. The Evaluation Plan is systematic and ongoing from year to year. Multiple methods of assessment are used throughout the academic year. Annual assessments include evaluations of current students' academic, professional, and personal dispositions and development, level of learning based on students' accomplishment of key performance indicators, as well as demographic and other characteristics of applicants, students, and graduates. All faculty members evaluate the programs, curriculum, coursework, admissions process, and current student functioning. Site supervisors evaluate current students and program outcomes. Graduates are evaluated by assessing alumni knowledge of program objectives and employer evaluations.

The Logic Model that guides the overall evaluation process is depicted in Figure 1.

Evaluation of Program Inputs

Faculty, Adjunct Faculty, Staff, and GAs

The Department of Counselor Education has six full-time faculty members in total, five tenure-track faculty members and one clinical faculty member. Tenure-track faculty workload consists of teaching, research, service, and administrative activities. Clinical faculty workload consists of teaching, service, and limited administrative activities. We offered 31 required courses (COUN 514 had four sections, COUN 526 and COUN 528 each had two sections) and five elective courses. Of the required courses, core faculty members taught 25 and non-core faculty taught four. Doctoral students under the supervision of Counselor Education faculty members taught two of the required courses and were counted as non-core. Of the elective courses, core faculty members taught one, non-core taught two, and a doctoral student taught one. Additionally, we hire professional counselors licensed and registered as supervisors in the state of Idaho to provide practicum lab live supervision. For the Doctoral program, Counselor Education Faculty taught all of the Counselor Education and Supervision core courses. The Department has one full time Management Assistant. The Department hired 7 GAs for 2022-2023 (1 PhD, 6 MA).

Site Supervisors and Advisory Board

Internship Site Supervisors continue to play an invaluable role in the education and development of our students. Site supervisors provide ratings on skill-based measures during the 3rd year of the MA Program, as well as completing a survey assessing Professional Identity Standards and Program Objectives.

Advisory Board members participate in the selection of MA students each year by reviewing applications and participating in applicant interviews. The Advisory Board also met to discuss the addiction and school emphasis curriculum, internship experience, and other issues specific to the addiction and school programs.

Evaluation of Program Outputs

Program Activities

The Counselor Education Department offered a MA in Counseling Program with a School Counseling cognate and Addiction Counseling cognate. The Department also maintains a PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision program.

The MA and PhD curriculum were reviewed during bi-weekly faculty meetings. Curricular offerings are aligned with CACREP standards and KPIs and associated measurements have been placed throughout the program offerings.

The assessment and evaluation procedure was reviewed this year and we included additional information to align with the 2016 CACREP standards. We will continue to seek input from program stakeholders, including a review of program objectives, key program indicators, and key program indicator measures in 2024.

Access and Impact Program Objective 1: Implement recruitment and retention strategies to recruit, enroll, and graduate a diverse student body.

To recruit, enroll, and graduate a diverse student body, program faculty engaged in a variety of activities involving all department stakeholders (i.e., students and their family and friends, alumni, supervisors, non-core faculty, core faculty and staff) throughout the year. We hosted an Open House and conducted two recruitment-oriented classroom visits. We also conducted four activities to foster a sense of community and celebrate students in our program to increase retention – (1) August friends and family picnic, (2) 1st year dinner, (3) 2nd year dinner, and (4) 3rd year breakfast. Additionally, we assign cohort advisors for the MA program who monitor each student's progress through the program including the submission and approval of a candidacy form to the Graduate College and the completing of a graduation application.

Program Applications and Enrollment

In 2022-2023, we received 52 completed applications for our MA program (28 with the expressed interest in the school cognate, 24 with the expressed interest in the addiction cognate) and 1 completed application for our doctoral program. There were 67 students enrolled in the MA Counseling Program and 3 students enrolled in the Doctoral Program for fall 2022. Table 3 presents number of students enrolled by cohort year and program. Demographic diversity is presented in Tables: 4a-b, 5a-b, 6a-b.

Summary of Findings

The MA program has an average of 22 students per cohort with about 57% of students in the school cognate and 43% in the addiction cognate. Students are predominantly female and White; however, we have minority representation that is representative of our state’s demographics. The Doctoral program currently admits one student per year. Eight of the students admitted have been female, two males, and White.

The MA program aims to graduate approximately 20 students per year. In general, 22 - 24 students are admitted as faculty anticipate a 10% attrition rate from orientation to fall enrollment and an additional 10% attrition rate from fall orientation to graduation.

Student Dispositions and Development Objective 1: Support the whole student through annual assessment of personal and professional dispositions and development (PPADD) and through ongoing advising and program coordination.

Access and Impact Program Objective 2: Systematically and continuously improve curriculum and program areas to increase student and program graduate satisfaction and learning through providing high quality, rigorous, and innovative training.

Student program satisfaction is measured and the Student Exit Survey and Program Graduates Survey. Results are presented in Table 7.

Summary of Findings

Quantitative data indicate the majority of students are satisfied or very satisfied with the program. Quantitative findings from the Exit Survey indicate current 3rd year students were most satisfied with aspects of their clinical courses (practicum and internship quality) and the quality of their advising. They were least satisfied with faculty expertise and number of electives. The percent of overall satisfaction for the program went down from 2021-2022 from both surveys. In 2022, 79% percent of 3rd year students reported being satisfied or very satisfied with the program, whereas only 61% reported this in 2023. A similar decrease was shown in the program graduates survey, with a decrease in overall satisfaction from 100% to 83%.

Evaluation of Program Outcomes

Professional, Personal, and Academic Dispositions and Development Review

Student Dispositions and Development Objective 1: Support the whole student through annual assessment of personal and professional dispositions and development (PPADD) and through ongoing advising and program coordination.

All students are reviewed at least once a year to assess professional, personal, and academic dispositions and development. All core faculty members teaching and advising students participate in the review. Students are required to meet a standard of professional ethical behavior, and appropriate personal behavior, as well as participate in professional and personal growth and development activities.

Faculty concerns regarding individual students were discussed at faculty meetings through the academic year and students were reviewed by faculty using the Professional, Personal, and Academic Development form (PPADD). The PPADD was developed by faculty in 2013 and reviewed annually and updated as needed. Table 8 indicates average scores on the PPADD in the areas of professional, personal, and academic development by cohort.

Table 8. Student Dispositions and Development Objective 1 - Faculty Ratings of Students' Professional, Personal, and Academic Dispositions and Development (PPADD – 1-3 scale)

Academic Development	2.95	2.44	2.18	2.66

There were two students who received a score of < 2.0 on one or more of the PADD areas. Table 9 indicates the cohort, area of concern, PPADD rating, and action taken by faculty in response to the area of concern.

Faculty also review student issues at faculty meetings on an ongoing basis as needed. These discussions may also result in areas of professional, personal, and academic development and remediation/dismissal from program. There were additional students who were on remediation plans in 2022-2023.

Table 9. Student Dispositions and Development Objective 1 - Professional, Personal, and Academic Dispositions and Development Problems

Cohort	Area of Concern	PPADD Rating and/or KPI Rating	Action
2021	Professional	1.0	Student met with Associate Chair to discuss concerns. Student and Associate Chair developed a remediation plan in February 2023.
2020	Academic-Failure to submit Internship Paperwork	1.0	Advisor emailed student expressing concern. Student responded by completing required academic tasks by deadline.
2021	Academic Integrity/Plagiarism	1.0	Instructor met with student to discuss concerns and completed a remediation plan in spring 2023. Student resubmitted assignments and completed spring courses successfully. Instructors will continue to monitor student's academic integrity.
2022	Academic-Failed KPI	1.0	Instructor met with student to discuss assignment. Student resubmitted assignment and passed the course.
2022	Academic-Failed KPI	1..0	Instructor met with student to review assignment and was provided the opportunity to redo assignment in the fall of 2024. Student's advisor created a remediation plan, effective summer 2023.

Students are also required to maintain a GPA of 3.0 or higher, achieve grades of C or better in all graduate level courses, and achieve a B or better in COUN 505 (Counseling Skills) and COUN514/516 (MA Practicum I and II), COUN614 and COUN 616 (Doc Practicum I and II), and a Pass in COUN526/528 (MA Internship I and II), COUN626 and COUN628 (Doc Internship I and II), and COUN592/692 (MA and Doc Portfolio). Doctoral students also complete a Program Development Form with the Doctoral Advisor every year to determine expected progress in academic development.

Faculty members talk with students to express concern when they receive a C in any of their coursework, a B- or lower in a clinical course, and Incomplete, or dismissal from the program if retention and remediation planning are not successful and this pattern continues. Table 10 indicates the term, cohort, course where problems occurred and action taken by faculty in response to the academic problem.

Summary of findings

Two MA students were identified by faculty as having concerns in personal, professional, or academic areas on the PPADD. Additional students were identified over the course of the academic year as having academic, professional, and/or personal concerns. In all cases, the advisor, course instructor, and/or Associate Chair discussed concerns with the students. Students placed on remediation plans will continue to be monitored in the next academic year. There were no problems identified for our Doctoral students in the areas of professional, personal, or academic development.

MA Program

CACREP Professional Counseling Identity Standards

Access and Impact Program Objective 2: Systematically and continuously improve curriculum and program areas to increase student and program graduate satisfaction and learning through providing high quality, rigorous, and innovative training.

CPCE scores were reviewed to assess knowledge and performance on Professional Identity Standards for MA students. Spring 2023 CPCE pass rates by specific identity standard area are shown in Table 11. All students who did not pass the original CPCE area were given the opportunity to take an exam in Spring 2023. Of the 23 students who completed the exam, three required further remediation across five areas. After remediation, all students passed all sections.

Findings from the surveys (ratings on a 5-point scale) indicate MA students are achieving Program Objectives, with an average performance above a 4.0 in most short- and long-term outcomes. The lowest scores relative to all outcomes were areas related assessment, research and program evaluation, and cognate specific outcomes (Exit Survey data).

Current and former students (program exit survey, program graduates survey) were asked to respond to open prompts inquiring about positive aspects of their program experience and areas that need improvement. Responses related to positive aspects included appreciation for many of the core and non-core faculty members (e.g., supportive, encouraging, helpful, knowledgeable, passionate, authentic), appreciation for relationships formed with peers through the cohort model and the Program community as a whole, and appreciation for opportunities to engage in personal exploration and growth. Responses related to areas of improvement included acknowledgement that the uncertainty and Program and course changes due to COVID-19 created challenges for faculty and students, dissatisfaction with faculty turnover and some new faculty hires, preference for more constructive feedback on assignments and supervision, desire for more course electives (e.g., trauma informed care, play therapy, sand tray therapy, private practice, specific therapeutic interventions), and some frustration with overall program organization and communication. Some students commented on the need for more education on the administrative roles of school counselors (school students) and on the ASAM criteria (addiction students), more support in broaching sensitive topics in counseling (e.g., sex, abortion, trauma, etc.), and better instruction in assessment and research courses in particular. Feedback on preparation for licensure was mixed, with some students indicating they felt adequately supported and prepared for licensures and others expressing a desire for more support in this area.

*Data from NCE Report survey (n=14); Data from Program Graduates survey (n=14; 3 Addiction and 11 School)

Summary of Findings

The MA program exceeded the target of graduating 20 students (23 students graduated in 2022-2023). The NCE pass rate for graduating students and the reported licensure rate for program graduates is high - only two students surveyed reported they were not licensed, and these students were school counselors (only a certificate is required for school counselors in the state of Idaho). All reporting graduates are employed as counselors.

The PhD program did not have any graduates this year as we did not accept any students in 2020. All of our PhD students are licensed in the state of ID, as we require licensure for them to supervise MA students in practicum. Job placement rates are 100%. We have students working in academic settings and clinical practice.

Use of Findings to Inform Program Modifications

Suggestions and modifications were reviewed during bi-monthly faculty meetings and faculty CACREP working meetings. Upon review of the program and data collected, faculty recommended the following:

1. Third-year student satisfaction rates were lower last year than in previous years (only 61% of students indicated they were satisfied or very satisfied with the program overall). Based on qualitative student feedback on the exit survey and other reports from students, we believe this lower satisfaction rate can be largely attributed to one faculty member who is no longer working in the program. Recruiting and retaining quality faculty members remains one of the highest priorities of the program. We will engage in a national search for a new core faculty member in the fall of 2023 (for a fall 2024 start date). Feedback on the two newest faculty members (i.e., school counseling coordinator, and clinical faculty member who began in their positions in the fall of 2022) was overwhelmingly positive. Tenured faculty will continue to provide mentorship and support to pre-tenured and clinical faculty members through regular check-ins and connection to campus teaching and research resources.
2. Current and former students (via Exit Survey and Program Graduates Survey) noted the desire for more elective courses, content additions, and an increase in the amount of feedback given in existing courses. We continue to add elective offerings to our schedule, especially in the summer (e.g., new for 2023: Trauma and Grief and Adlerian Interventions for Encouragement). Related to the specific feedback regarding content, we will be more intentional about discussing the administrative roles of school counselors (school students) and ASAM (addiction students). Faculty and supervisors will work to increase constructive feedback provided to students. Faculty added an Internship Preparation 1-credit elective to the spring semester. Student feedback about the course was positive with students indicating that they found the course informative and helpful to their internship search process. They recommended we continue to offer the course in the future and we are in the process of a curriculum change to add it as a required course in the future.

3. Faculty reviewed the current assessment and evaluation plan and agreed that it is satisfactory. Of note, however, was the continued lower level of survey responses from program graduates (approximately 20% response rate). Low program response rates also impact employer survey responses because we collect employer contact information from the program graduate survey. One barrier to data collection of program graduates is that we primarily retain students' Boise State student email and use this email for all contact. Many students, however, do not continue to check their student email and thus likely miss the opportunity to provide feedback. Making an effort to obtain students' personal emails for future post-graduation contact could help with feedback rates. We will add an item asking students to share personal emails on the 3rd year exit survey. An additional limitation to employer survey rates is the high number of graduates who are self-employed.
4. Faculty reviewed the process of evaluating KPI's and Program Objectives. Faculty agreed that the assessment of MA and Doctoral Program Objectives is satisfactory.
5. Faculty reviewed the process of using the PPADD to monitor students' professional, personal, and academic development and agreed it is satisfactory.
6. Faculty reviewed enrollment trends. MA student applications were lower than the previous year (52 compared to 70). Other than 2020 (44 MA applications), program applications averaged around 70 for 2018, 2019, and 2021. A drop in applications to 50 in 2023 is significantly lower than most prior years. Faculty will discuss strategies for increasing interest in the program. Although the doctoral program is approximately 12 years old, it has only been a PhD in Counselor Education and Supervision for four years and is, therefore not well-known. Faculty members will continue to discuss PhD program recruitment strategies, including increasing visibility of the program.
7. Faculty reviewed graduation and retention rates. The MA program exceeded the target of graduating 20 students (N = 23). Faculty members discussed the current retention plan and agreed to continue current retention activities. Faculty members noted there was no attrition among ethnically/racially diverse students. The doctoral program has high retention (100%), but low graduation rates (currently 0%). All three current doctoral students are on track to graduate May and August of 2024 and thus, we expect graduation rate numbers to increase next year.
8. We reviewed our program Mission and Program Objectives. Faculty agreed that our mission reflects our program goals and aspirations. We continue to make minor changes to our strategic plan to continue meaningful alignment with the College and University's strategic goals.
9. Based on curriculum review and survey data, faculty will consider and/or make the following revisions to the curriculum:
 - a. Survey data continue to indicate knowledge in Assessment and Measurement and Research and Program Evaluation as relative areas of weakness compared to other core courses. A new instructor taught the assessment course (COUN 504) in the summer of 2023 and an instructor who taught the research and program evaluation course prior to 2022 and received good evaluations will teach the course again in the spring of 2024.

- b. Faculty reviewed the Doctoral program curriculum and outcomes. No changes were made.
