Program Intended Learning Outcomes * Learner-centered statements of what students will know, do, and become as a result of completing the program (e.g., students will [action verb]). See Bloom's Taxonomy.	No evidence presented of intended learning outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - PLOs not functional (e.g. incomplete, overly detailed, disorganized, or not measurable) - Describe a process or delivery of education (i.e., what the instructor does for students) rather than intended student learning (i.e., what the intended result is to be) - Do not address the breadth of knowledge, skills, or services associated with the cumulative effect of the program 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Written in a way that they can be measured - Most outcomes are clearly defined or the meaning is easily discernible - Most outcomes are written as learner-centered statements - Encompass the mission of the program and/or the central principles of the discipline - Focus is too narrow to represent the cumulative effect of the program 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Written in a way that they can be measured - All outcomes are written as learner-centered statements with action verbs - The outcomes are clearly defined - Encompass program, college, and university mission and goals - Align with professional standards, as appropriate. - Focus on the cumulative effect of the program
